

CASA DO ZEZINHO

“For 28 years bringing education, affection, food and human development to the region of Capão Redondo, South Zone of São Paulo.”

OUR HISTORY

Founded on March 06, 1994 by educator Dagmar Rivieri, better known as Tia Dag, Casa do Zezinho is a non-profit social organization, located near Parque Santo Antônio South Zone of the city of São Paulo. Already more than 30 thousand people have passed through the House.

Since its conception, the objective of Casa do Zezinho has always been to be a place of education and opportunity for a better life for children and young people from low-income families and residents of nearby neighborhoods. It started with seven children and today attends, annually, more than 1,000 Zezinhos, boys and girls, aged between 6 and 21 years old.

These Zezinhos are involved in about 20 workshops and activities directed to the areas of education, art, culture and sports.

TIA DAG

Dagmar, also known as Tia Dag, started her trajectory with voluntary activities during the 1970s. At first, her work was dedicated to welcoming children of political refugees from conflict zones and dictatorships in Latin America in shelters located in neighborhoods in the southern part of the city of São Paulo.

With a degree in pedagogy, Dagmar already had experience in caring for children with circumstantial traumas before dedicating herself to the NGO. Today, she collects books and awards for her Arco-Íris pedagogy, and is even considered among the 100 most influential Brazilians by Época Magazine.
